DR. JOSEPH BURR TYRELL. — Real wealth untouched.

Ordered Anew

The new UN cease-fire was issued by truce headquarters in Palestine even as the new outbreak of hostilities between Arabs and Jews here on the eve of the American elections threatened to wipe out the last vestige of UN control in the Holy Land.

UN headquarters in Haifa reported that the Jews opened a big offensive on the Golan Heights, the front last night. The attack was responded following the pattern of the fighting in the Negev area of south Palestine.

If a householder doesn't give his dog a bath, it may get into trouble with the law.

Some of the digressions are pretty tame. There was talking, shoving, or a slight bite, but any good dog owner who has a official identification will risk a dreadful penalty. Kids are smart enough to know what to do for violators of Hallowe'en rules.

No Farmyard Here Speed Declares

Perennial Candidate Defies All Opponents

Fred Speed says:

"What this city needs is the Macdonald hotel for a city hall, and I'm the man to get it!"

Thus, the bi-annual perennial aldermanic candidate F. J. Speed wound up his 1948 campaign platform, and challenged anyone "including the Canadian National Railways" from stopping him make Edmonton "a city and not a farm-yard."

Speed was one of 12 citizens who had been picked overnight to start their campaigning for five city council seats before 30 followers at Edmonton Community Hall Friday night.

Although all made varied and diversified campaign promises and plans, they were agreed that while the present city council needs a new blood, to be administered by what Speed dryly termed "a blood transfusion."

"We've got to have new blood and energy in our government," said R. F. H. Hauss, Citizens' Committee candidate. "I want to see more advertising posts and better streets in Edmonton. We have never failed, I'm convinced we will have them."

DEPLORED HOUSING

P. J. Gwynne, running on an independent ticket, deplored the much-discussed city housing program and attacked city government for not being honest but excuses for a truly disastrous situation.

"Don't let them tell you why there aren't more homes," he added. "The reason is that they never ordered the materials."

A five-point platform was set up by Mrs. Rita W. Rowan, former Mrs. Rita G. M. Rowan. They include public-owned low-rental houses.

Also the institution of a "ward" system, abolition of property qualifications for voters, opening of further transit fare increases and immediate construction of a civic auditorium.

"To ask people to pay higher fares is like telling a pensioner to go for his pension," charged Chisholm.

He further stated that big business downtown got one-third of the city's transit system and asked why these businesses didn't put any money back into the public transit system.

W. E. Briggs, Citizens' Committee, cited the city's present inefficient public transit system. The 2,100 telephones have been installed for a population increase of 8,000, he said, and he called for that sidewalks will be put in for the benefit of those who need them.

Alderman A. Bassett, South Side independent, refused to criticize the city's public transit system, but was quick to condemn the present council, "he declared. "But if it were not for me, I would know where would Edmonton be?"

Mrs. Rowan attacked the Citizens' Council for its platform and policy, which "promises nothing."

"How can they have the nerve to ask for votes on a 'promise-nothing' policy when I'm here," she admitted.

Ald. Syd Parsons, Citizens' Committee candidate for re-election, went briefly over his 10-year count.

Busy Thieves Garner $375 in Varied Loot

Thieves garnered household articles, money and cheques valued at more than $375 in eight raids reported to city police Friday.

Two biggest losers, Mike Clarke, 40, of 1008 10th Street, and John Allen, who lost a $100 gold watch and a three-piece brown suit, were in residence at the YMCA.

Next biggest loss was an $85 vacuum cleaner removed sometime. West Enders lost a valuable stamp collection, the dominion government in the Jasper Building.

Forty dollars in cash, a red radio and a typewriter were taken from a men's clothing store. Some men's garments were taken from George Baker, of Service, by a group of men, he said, who then invited him to have a drink.

A nine-dollar radio was snatched from a rooming house at 10th Street owned by A. E. Woodward while it was parked near a downtown hotel.

With the loss of his car, a driver's license was stolen from a doctor's car parked near 97 Avenue. Dr. C. L. Greenwood, who said he thought thieves were after narcotics, reported his garage broken and ransacked but nothing stolen.

The decennial census of Canada in 1941 established the Eskimo population at 7,205.

Our 62nd Anniversary

This Month Marks
ANOTHER Milestone . . .

Our 62nd ANNIVERSARY

But, Without Any
Suggestion of a SALE!

IN NORMAL TIMES this would be the date of our 62nd ANNIVERSARY SALE, but with so many of the better lines of merchandise still in short supply and the scarcity of manufacturers' surplus production, we concluded it would be inadvisable for us to try to merchandise an Anniversary Sale, comparable to our sales in pre-war years.

So, once again we will pass the "Milestone" without any celebration and confine ourselves to featuring smart Fall and Winter fashions and the finer quality merchandise for which JOHNSTONE WALKER'S has been noted for well over half a century.

We are proud to have served Edmonton and Central and Northern Alberta so long and we thank you for your loyal patronage down through the years, and we assure you that just as soon as we can present merchandise that measures up to our standard at prices that represent real savings to you, we will resume our long established custom of an ANNIVERSARY SALE with values worthy of the occasion!

In the meantime we pledge ourselves to make every effort to lower prices wherever possible.

Communism Is Different

Resolute opposition offered by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce to Communist activities in Canada and to the employment of known Communists is part and parcel of the general Canadian reaction against the Red element in this country.

Many of the trade unions are making a dead set against Communism in their membership. The British Columbia Law Society has imposed a ban upon the admittance of Communists to the bar of that province.

Already leftist influences are raising the sentimental cry of persecution against this trend. Already they are invoking the basic principles of free speech. Already they are enquiring as to what respect their party differs from any other political party in Canada and why the rights and privileges of its members should be restricted.

The truth is Communism is different in basic intent to violently change our way of life and our form of government. It is essentially a party of revolution.

Dorothy Thompson has made public on more than one occasion authentic Communist documents which definitely establish three points:

1. That all Communist organizations in whatever country are subject to the control of the Russian-dominated Comintern.

2. That Communism, in whatever country, deliberately proposes to achieve political control, not by the free expression of the masses at the polls, but by revolution.

3. That Communism is admittedly opposed to all personal and private freedom including that freedom of speech which is invoked by Canadian leftists against the "persecution" of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

By implication, the Communist party or any party which advocates Communism is treasonable in nature.

Chapter 146, section 74, clause f, part II of the criminal code of Canada defines treason as compelling "His Majesty to change his measures or counsels," or intimidating or overruling "both Houses or either House of Parliament of the United Kingdom or of Canada."

This means, in its broader implication, attempts to change the form or course of government by menace.

That is exactly what Communism proposes to do.

It is the reason the Chamber of Commerce attacks Communism, why labor unions seek to purge themselves of it and why loyal Canadians turn their backs on it.

It is the reason why Communist parties or Communist-devoted parties differ so radically from any other political parties in Canada.

'Cruel and Unusual Punishment'

The imagination quails before the prospect conjured up by an application made to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation by two companies who wish to install radio loudspeakers in buses and street cars.

These two companies, one of which is the company that controls street car advertising across Canada, propose to start with Montreal and Toronto and eventually hook up every bus and street car in Canada with radio.

Surely this is a flagrant violation of human rights.

The tired mother, the weary shopgirl, the exhausted workman, jolted in rush hour crowds, find municipal transportation irritating enough in every Canadian city without having to listen to the blaring of a radio program.

Forms of Religious Hypocrisy

In the 22nd chapter of his gospel, St. Matthew recounts how the Pharisees confronted Jesus and sought to confuse Him with the question, asking Him to pronounce on the lawfulness of giving tribute to Caesar.

Jesus called them "hypocrites" which must have been a highly contemptuous term, in His meaning, because it was applied to an attitude which St. Matthew designated as "wickedness."

Hypocrisy is, indeed, an opprobrious offence in the Christian view. And hypocrisy is peculiarly reprehensible when it involves religious pretence because the religious hypocrite makes a blasphemous mockery of worship.

The trouble with religious hypocrisy is that it is not readily detected by the observer. It is a sin usually known only to him who commits it.

And religious hypocrisy takes a multitude of forms.

That person is a hypocrite who is active in religious work for no other reason than that such work offers opportunity for gregarious contacts.

That person is a hypocrite who goes to church only to make a parade of piety.

Hypocrisy is an abomination of religion because religion must rest always upon sincerity and truth.

ODDS AND ENDS

By Harold L. Weir

Inability to Stay Mad Is Civilization's Hope

The dragging out of the war criminals in Germany for a period of more than three years after cessation of hostilities is a savage and barbaric procedure.

It was necessary to conduct these trials in Germany to expose our war criminals. It was necessary to put a good many of them to justice.

But the virtue and value of these judicial proceedings lay almost entirely in the fact that they exposed the Germans to the world.

The trial of the Nazi tribunals would surely follow.

For the peace and order of the world it was essential to impress the Germans with the fact that the Nazi tribunals would surely follow.

BRIDGE

To Change Luck Here's Real Test

By William E. McKenna
If you want the benefit of today's hand, you must cover up the East and West cards.

This week I have given you a number of cards selected from the book "High Through the Pack." This is not a bridge book, but a story book.

A	K	7	5
4	Q	10	8
None	W	E	3
5	Q	9	7
2	J	10	6
3	9	8	4
4	10	6	2
5	7	1	0
6	8	0	9
7	1	2	3
8	0	3	4
9	2	4	5
10	3	6	7
None	W	E	8
5	7	9	1
6	4	2	0
7	1	3	5
8	0	6	8
9	2	4	6
10	3	7	9

Each card tells his own story. The queen if diamonds tells about a fine player. But the queen of clubs is the queen of bridge, inflicted upon this player a long period of bad luck.

After a day exceptionally bad he dozed off in a chair. Suddenly the queen of diamonds appeared and told him that she was his fairy godmother. She cast a magic bridge-table. She was going to put him in a seat. If he could solve a problem she would tell him that his luck changed at the table. Here is the problem: Hearts are trumps. You can have West lead a club. You will have West hands shown and you will see how the player in the play around them.

The problem is for the lead of a club suit and played the contract at seven hearts. West of course had to lead a club. What would the queen play? What would the contract will you undertake and how will you play the hand?

Lay out the cards yourself and see how many you can distribute the East and West cards and call for a lead that will allow you to make the contract. Then lay out the cards to cover the East and West hands shown and you will see how the player in the play around them.

The answer is for the lead of a club suit and played the contract at seven hearts. West of course had to lead a club. What would the queen play? What would the contract will you undertake and how will you play the hand?

Research and science marches on. Vessel's Crew Escapes In Fire

HAMILTON, Ont.—Crew members of the small, Newfoundland and coastal freighter Flex escaped when their 60-ton craft burned while anchored near Ferryland, Nfld., last night. The crew, consisting of six men, discarded dummy's dream of club. Now dealer could cross ruff the hand out and make all seven hearts. The dealer did it. East, with six trump, did not make a trick.

It Kinda Crept Up On Him

Go back no more than six months and it's a safe bet that Dave (Sweeney) Schirner had no more plans for a return to an active hockey role than he had for dropping a bone on the UN sessions, as one bemused individual got around to asking.

While the Flyers were embroiled with Ottawa Senators last spring in a Regina to Edmonton to Calgary jaunt that paid off in an Allan Cup triumph, the flamboyant then-coach of Lethbridge Maple Leafs was around and about—his object, enice a Senator or two to lose off Ottawa's entry in favor of his own team.

Actually, it proved a discouraging talent search, more especially when it came time to talk money.

"Not one of those ginks gets less than $3,750," we remember hearing Schirner tell it. "Randy, his voice was a low moan by comparison, was particularly huffy in壮ing, the stately winger who wasn't much of a factor in the finals, was reduced still further to near-impenetrability midway through the final game after one Harvey (Pug) Young had caused him to sit down hard on his britches with a powerful box office.

So high was the high on Irvine it was nothing to to him high. Irvine was high. Irvine. "When he told me what he wanted . . . when he told me what he was drawing from Ottawa, I advised him to stay put," Schirner summed up his efforts to sign the Sens-to-clotches horse.

And his voice carried the conviction that Irvine had a good thing in that Ottawa job and why do anything to queer the deal when a fellow had come on a soft touch?

And So To Work On That Bay Window

We wouldn't have a clue as to whether his failure to lure any of the Senators west had anything to do with Schirner's eventual tossup of the Lethbridge job.

In fact, he could have been right for not wanting to worry through another tough WHCIL campaign with Leafy as he had known them for two years.

Indeed they were a so-near-yet-so-far troupe despite the heroics of their coach on the sidelines and the Latoski-Hesmer-Hall line out on the ice. The Leafs were well-backed with run-of-the-mill performers. More than anything they needed a shot in the muscles, one that could be provided only by two or three experienced pack hands.

Hence Schirner's man hunt in the Ottawa camp. But whatever the real reason for his return to the ice, there was no time to be lost to a comeback on the ice. The meeting with NHL great decided signs any half-measures. There wouldn't be any Fat-Old-Man Rule for him, not if he could help it.

So he set to and by dint of hard—and what is grinding—work when you're 38 years of age, melted off something like 30 pounds.

Now he did it. He did it, but for weeks on end he didn't look a pie or cake in the face except to sneer. As for the stuff that brings out the best in an athlete's elbow, that too, must become all but a thing of the past.

Even his best friends heard almost in disbelief after a few Cap workouts that Schirner no longer qualified as a stiltish stout.

It's Old Stuff By This Time

Even before he retired—presumably for all time—after the 1945-46 season, the fellow who scored 201 goals in National League play had done everything with a puck but eat.

So it isn't as though he has fresh fields to plow under. This is for true, however. When he elected to move off the pine once more newspapermen out this way recognized that their best source of copy among the league coaches was gone up in smoke.

And so it is. And so it is as a reflection on career, off-the-record gents like Frank Curran and Jack Arbour to name a pair, whose way of going is not the Schirner way. It is just that the ex-Leaf coach wanted to have his say—and had it.

Whether all those points the NHL scoring king of 1935-36, 1936-37 (not one even in the NHL) if it concerned him, has come up with so far in the current WHCIL campaign mean he's set for an extraordinary year no one can tell. Seemingly the Stamps had his number in Calgary last night.

Fryer followers will be better able to decide for themselves after a look at what goes in the Arena a few hours hence. In the meantime repeating that the 'jewl' will be jumping for this one.

Before tearing this it's probably as good a time as any to remind that Art Somers, current Regina coach, also knew a thing or two about duping netminders in his time. Along with Schirner and Mel Hill (if, and when, he plays again), Somers is the man who can make the Stamps with a threesome that knows just how it feels to be on a Stanley Cup celebration.

Who will win tonight? Well, if it's anything to go on, Iffy, the Dopester, that peer of Monday morning quarterbacks, was willing to take the Caps and three goals at last call-over.

Canadians Appoint New Hockey Mentor

The Canadian Athletic Club has come up with a new junior hockey coach in this year of a balmy Indian summer. He is Gordon Keddie, a native of Winnipeg, and a former player with the junior Rangers of that town.

Keddie was introduced to members of press and radio at Friday night's CACB baseball banquet. He impressed as being a man of affairs and said his club would stack up favorably with any junior team in the city.

Flyers, Caps Battle For Top Rung Tonight

First place will be at stake when Flyers and Caps square away at the Arena tonight in a Western Canada Hockey league contest, timed for 8:30 o'clock.

To date each club has won four games, though both suffered due to that setback at Calgary last night, though the Caps have since recovered and haven't dropped to the deck yet.

THE GREAT COMEBACK. From the crucial nature of the Flyer-Cap engagement is the fact that it will serve to introduce Dave (Sweeney) Schirner to the world featherweight championship in 2:38 of the fourth round at Madison Square Garden.

Both clubs turned in a rough, rugged brand of winter pastime throughout the three periods. Capitals pressed hard through the first two, while the Caps, though strong on defence, while Stamps' smooth passing attack sent them in on the Regina net repeatedly.

Citation's Take To Runyon Fund

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro won for a $10,000 steeplechase Friday in the Pimlico Special.

THE BIG HORSE
While the crowd cheered his acclaimed for the "champ," Arcaro held a tight rein on Citation most of the distance, then let him out for the final quarter mile from the head of the stretch to wire.

Arcaro has won the three previous winters. Challeden in 1939; Shut Out in 1943 and Assail in 1946.

Shoctor Plans Foundation For Senior Football Here

By DICK BEDDOES

The foundation for senior football to return to Edmonton in 1949 is being laid.

That was the good word coming by wire from Joe Shoctor in an interview with The Bulletin Friday. Said Shoctor:

"We are in the planning and discussion stage and have been able to establish pretty well in capital and surrounding areas in the West in the Western Conference come next fall."

Shoctor is Edmonton's closest liaison with the Western Conference at the moment and the "we" refers to the football committee of sportsmen who have expressed an interest in grabbing a seat on the national board.

Last week Shoctor interviewed Les (King) Lear, coach of the Calgary Stampeders, in the sunnier city, and learned that Lear, too, is interested in finding a place for the Western Conference's proposed Quarterback Club at an early date.

The Quarterback Club is to be members of city and all people interested in fostering senior football!

In Edmonton, Shoctor pointed out that this organization would not be responsible for raising money. It would be an organization whereby the coaches and players would discuss films of the games with the fans and educate the public to the whys and wherefores of the game.

"We can raise the money to field a club next year," Shoctor stated.

He said he knew where he could get the cash.

The one question mark today on Shoctor's program is whether the fans will support senior football.

He figures that even if the Blue Bombers rolled into Calgary last night prepared to tackle Calgary Tornadoes in a sudden-death game, the fans would expect the footballers for responsible action.

"Team officials said the club was in 'good shape' for the year, and we have to draw a line between what kind of support the venture would need and what it would cost," Shoctor said.

"A live wire American coach like Lear could assure us of strong talent," Shoctor stated.

"Because he would have the connections necessary for bringing top flight performers like Keith Spalti to Edmonton."

Shoctor concluded with the remark that the organization he at least a semi-private project. "The football players would be expected to coach themselves high school teams and thus insure Edmonton of a steady supply of home talent for senior football in later years."

MacDonald stressed the importance of the game to be decided in the best way to gear ahead in the fight game.

UEFB Mobilizes To Give Britain Strength . . . In Cold War To Win The Peace

REASON FOR UEFB

The Fund resulted from an investigation by groups interested in relief in Britain. Relief by commercial shipping and air transportation, incorporation, delivery at destination, submarine convoys and other methods. The combined efforts of many could be concentrated in one single stream of relief, without a loss of individual effort to the various groups and organizations. Actual savings of 24 to 30 per cent over the present cost alone have been estimated—meaning savings of 100 million dollars in the same cost, the elimination of private contributions, more rapid and efficient delivery.

MORE AID PER DOLLAR

For example, instead of sending a regular package 100 miles, packed in the hands of a recipient in Britain, the cost of shipping and purchase price is approximately $2.30 at present, whereas through the UEFB, the comparable cost would be 57¢ to 70¢. This difference does not include the time and substantial saving which bulk purchasing effects.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

Other organizations are not given this national service nor are they asked to make large concessions which could have assured UEFB. However, the Fund facilities are available to every organization at present extending aid to Britain.

GOVERNMENT AID

The Canadian Government is placing at the UEFB disposal, all its facilities, ships, planes and other facilities. The Government, the railroads and many members of the Provincial Transportation Associations are co-operating in giving UEFB the greatest freight rate to Canadian ports.

The gallant people of Britain are suffering today because they are determined to win the cold war. They are the only nation in Europe fighting with body and mind to vanquish the spectre that haunts the Old World.

The people of Britain are not complaining. But their health is being weakened . . . their efficiency impaired . . . by the tremendous restrictions they have imposed upon themselves. In their determination to win the cold war, they stand in danger of being defeated by undernourishment.

Undernourishment is the greatest danger of every person living in Britain today. Why? Because Britain imports four-fifths less goods than before the war, yet exports more than half as much again as in 1939.

Says the British Ministry of Food:

"... we are living on marginal nutritional standards, and there is cause for anxiety lest this should be having adverse effects on physique and health . . . Everything you can send us is wanted and urgently wanted."

You can't afford to let the British people down. If they go under YOU, and all of us, will feel the effects. We need a strong Britain to help fight the cold war. Give generously to UEFB—TODAY.

Good Blues Recorded By Ella Fitzgerald

By Dick Sherbanuk

The recording ban has been lifted, and it won't be only the disc jockeys who'll be heaving a sigh of relief.

Popular music of the past few months has been nothing to write home about, but there are some recent releases that are good, but not great.

Husky-voiced Ella Fitzgerald sings the blues and really sounds it, in the style that keeps her right up there on the top of the torch-singer lists.

Don Cossacks Impressive In Concert

Those personal favorites, the Don Cossacks, returned to Edmonton Friday night.

Conductor George Schiff and his 28 singers treated a bit with a capacity audience which filled McPherson United Church. It was the eighth consecutive year the Don Cossacks have been here since the Celebrity Series since the series opened in Edmonton some 14 years ago.

And it was a visit that the Cossacks won't soon forget.

The old starting point of the Don Cossacks' tour of the continent of many musical concerts was reversed for a change, the audience will present on blue, but the entire series was always a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

The chorus sang 35 numbers, and two encores of almost wholly Russian composition. The program was divided into three parts, with two intermissions.

ORIGINAL NUMBERS

The first part included selections like the Bach-Gounod Ave Maria, Glinka's "Song of the Motherland," Korovin's Bleeding Altar, Thou O Lord; the remainder of the program consisted of a variety of songs that made the Don Cossacks almost a household word all over North America.

In the second part, the magnificently planned piano solos, including a solo by the conductor, were presented in the numbers, under the complete command of the Don Cossacks who sang with a depth of feeling that held the entire audience.

ADDITIONAL HAPPY

Among the other numbers, Berry Picking was packed in full of fun, and the Don Cossacks had the first singers to say they had 1,000 people smiling with them.

The third part of the program was Don Cossack All the Way, and the audience was asked to sing along with the Women's Musical Club concert, next Saturday begins at 8 p.m. in the Normal School.

Leopoldo Losarcos, teacher of piano in the Capital, and a performer and accompanist, has been a music festival winner in the senior class, and he and his wife, Shirley Laney, played a leading role in the Civic Opera Society's production of The Merry Widow last spring, and in two weeks will sing a leading part in the society's presentation of The Merry Widow in the open air opera clasp in the spring city music festival.

The real star of the show, however, well-known in Edmonton music circles, will be accompanist for Miss Laney.

FIRE IN A HAT

THE man's hat which the Teenie Weenies use for a town hall had been decorated with Autumn leaves, the Teenie Weenie women were taking last stitches here and there in their tiny costumes, and all the little folk were looking forward to their Halloween ball. A great deal of good food had been provided for the ball, including three thimblefuls of fresh apple cider. The Chinaman had made several Chinese lanterns and some of the men had carved jack-o'-lanterns out of acorn shells. Much pains had been taken to make the ball a big success, and the Teenie Weenies were feverishly excited over the event.

The General told the Dunce to build a fire in the hall stove so the place would be nice and warm for the party. The Dunce built the fire and while he waited for it to get well started he lit one of the Teenie Weenie candles in a Chinese lantern. He set the lantern on a bench beneath a window and stepped back to admire it. Just then the bell rang for lunch. The Dunce, who is always hungry, stuffed some wood into the stove and hurried off for his luncheon, quite forgetting the lighted lantern.

While the little folk ate their lunch the candle burned down and presently the paper lantern caught fire. The lantern blazed up and set fire to the window curtain. In a few minutes the hall was burning fiercely. The Doctor saw smoke rolling out of the hat when he stepped out onto the back porch after lunch. He gave the alarm and instantly the Teenie Weenie men brought out fire extinguishers and ran to the hall screaming "FIRE!"

THE TEENIE WEEENIES
BY WM. DONAHUE

The firefighters did manage to save a few things from the burning building. One of the thimbles of cider was saved, but somehow it was upset and spilled all over the ground. Someone brought out a table and threw it over the rail around the brim of the hat, smashing one of its tiny legs. The Old Soldier with a wooden leg pulled out a valuable rug. The firefighters squirted more than 25 thimblefuls of water from the medicine droppers which they use for fire extinguishers.

CUT ME OUT.

The hall was a total loss. It burned in a very short time, but the Teenie Weenies went right on with their party. They held it in the shoe house. It was a bit crowded there, but they all had a fine time. They had no apple cider to drink, but the Cook made two thimblefuls of sassafras tea, and there was plenty of Teenie Weenie doughnuts. Everyone had a grand time except the Dunce, who was sent to bed without any supper for having been so careless with the Chinese lantern that started the fire.

of this as a possible way through streets and listened to sign off over the air, the oil event of produces plenty of oil
but only the figure of Edmontonians think their oil fields are almost as bad at Calgary by stating:
"The Ledger portion of the Edmonton area is the Red water portion of the Edmonton oilfield."

Let's compromise and let Ned know everything.

Heard at the seasonal dinner for the Hotel James A. MacKinnon:
"The reason Jim is so popular is that when you write him in Dinah, he writes back in a few days saying he will attend to it.
But when you write him in Edmonton, he doesn't answer.
When you voted so long as we are from Edmonton."

The big popular writer said he was leaving Ottawa this week for the capital with even more fight in him than ever before.
Very graciously, but not without a smile, he said:
"We give THE BULLETIN credit for making him so diligent on our behalf. He is now ready to start swelling our lists and looking out for Edmonton," growled the hotel manager. "It's a big important town and shouldn't be pushed around. THE BUL-LETIN has been doing a lot for us that."

One reason Mr. MacKinnon likes the hotel is that it is the darling of his son, who became a very outstanding career. The late Frank Oliver brought him from the University of Alberta to teach teacher, Mr.
MacKinnon was a triple threat man acting as reporter, bulldog and editor. After he left, he left with the colorful (especially in his mind) "purple prose" of the popular "purple prose" of the day.

"If you are taking any good care of yourself, write me again," said Oliver, "write out the whole story. I'll get it through." Big Jim went on his way with the result he has had an excellent time and hasn't written news.

Lovely Bob Marshall loves to rub the toes of Edmontonians.
Twice at recent meetings
he has been seen to exclaim
"That's quite a cement planting you have there!"

"You better like it," laughs Edmonton's only street paper, "you're paying for it."

Major Alain seems determined to find out if the new paper he has in the news is exaggerating the crime in the city, but the press made out. Perhaps the mayor doesn't know that the newspaper does not know all the details of the goings on because influential lawyers are asked to keep crimes off the dockets.

EVERYBODY DIES BUT HIM

Axe Murderer's Threat Of Hex Seems Fruitful

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Did Jake Bird, negro axemurderer put the "hex" on the men who helped convict him?

Shortly after Bird was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Martha Kluft, here, he was quoted as saying: "The guys who had anything to do with this are going to be killed."

A few weeks later Superior Judge E. D. Hoage, who had conducted Bird's trial, died unexpectedly.

Next Chief Deputy Clerk Ray Scott, who had handled filing of papers in the case, died.

On Karpach, county undersheriff who figured in obtaining conviction, he died last week.

Midwest stayings from Bird, died of heart disease.

Then, Tacoma Police Lieutenant Sherman Lyons, who also obtained a number of confessions from Bird in the case, died.

Jake still is very much alive. His appeal for a new trial is being processed by the state Supreme Court. Today is the first anniversary of his marriage to Mrs. Mabel Kluft and her daughter, Beverly June.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Whatever happened to the old-style movie femme fatale who murmured to her victims, "Kiss me, you fool?"

Well, she's still doing business at the same old stand, but she's using modern methods, says Paulette Goddard.

"Today, whining won't be good enough," said Paulette, speaking of the co-habited tempestuous who sit across the early flicker screens. She should know. She has done a healthy business of playing girls whose habits are just as bad as those of the better sewing circles.

GOOD EXAMPLE

"There is a good example of the new approach to tempestuousness," said Paulette, referring easily to "Milk of Coca-Cream," from the Borges of the same name. She plays the woman with the hair that grows Mickey Mouse to her best pals.

"Lucelia loves her husband, but she's still a good example of the old days—with much leering and slithering about. Well, first of all, I refuse to hand him over to the police," she said.

Then I started to cry when he poured the poisoned wine—after all, he was my husband. And I tried not to let him see my damp eyes.

"When he fell over dead, then I thought, 'I'm free!'"

Paulette recalled other shadow ladies she has played. In "Kitty," she married three men for their money and gave each a sense of humor to keep her sympathetic, she said.

As for the sex appeal of the more vampy Paulette opinion: "The sexy girls appear to have a more direct approach; they're more honest, more commanding. Like Lauren Bacall."

Babson Forecasts War, Depression

Not This Year or Next,
However, Says Expert

By Josephine Leine

WELLESLEY, Mass., Oct. 30.—(BUP)—Nineteen years ago, on Oct. 29, 1929, the stock market crashed. It was "Black Tuesday" and the tickers ran home behind transactions in Wall Street brokerage offices in New York. In the ensuing days of panic and confusion, men who had been millionaires a week before became paupers.

Piling station attendants, bookkeepers and accountants on the stock market saw their small investments wiped out overnight.

One of the few men who foresaw the market break was economist Roger Babson. He predicted in December, 1929, that the crash was coming.

TAKES GLIMSY VIEW

Today, Babson took a gloomy look at world and predicted that the next depression will be another war on the way.

However, he won't arrive this year or next, the 73-year-old economist said in an interview.

DEPRESSION'S INEVITABLE

"Depression's inevitable," said Babson, "but it will come unless the nations can develop a world government with power to regulate international things as tariffs and immigrations."

Babson said he's preparing for war because he believes he can think such an organization is necessary to forestall another depression. He added that he already had made a long-range forecast on the subject.

Taking from his desk-top a copy of "Fighting Business Depressions," he wrote in 1932, Babson said:

"It's still too early to predict exactly when economic prosperity will return, but we must be prepared in case of emergency."

"Taking care of my grandchildren and their friends whose ages are now such that they just face the economic struggles of two generations and should be prepared for periods around 1950 and 1980."

HAS TWO HIDEGOUTS

Convinced that Hitler, Boston in the next world war, Babson is preparing atomic bomb bases at remote locations, Kan., and New Mexico, N.M.

He said he's pessimistic about war, but figures it's better to forestall it than to wait until it is created until the world's businesses "stop working about problems of the world, men, women, and the politicians who abuse them."

"In other words," he said, "spiritual and material relief spending."

"It is the only solution to the problem."

PAINTINGS PRESENTED

TORONTO, Oct. 30.—(CP)—Two paintings by S. Joshua and N. Nichols, both valued at $32,000, have been presented to the Toronto Art Gallery. The paintings were given by Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, and the 16th century French canvas is "Venus Presenting Arms to Aeneas."

PAINTINGS PRESENTED

HAWAII, Oct. 30.—(UPI)—The Nicaraguan freighter Lotus which was overhauled at San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, Oct. 4 with 475 head of cattle, sank Sunday 200 miles off the coast. The ship was battling storms during the voyage.

CRISP AUTUMN DAYS PERFECT FOR THAT BRISK SPURT ALONG WOODLAND PATHS

YOURS AND TALLY HO! And they're away for a brisk canter on the trails. This half dozen attractive young horsewomen are as enthusiastic about riding as Einstein is about his theory of relativity. Left to right, Moureen McLeod, Grace Berry, Barbara Marsden, Donna Hamby, Barbara Park and Joyce May, all pupils of Mrs. William Greene at Briercrest Saddle Club, take advantage of the crisp autumn weather and enjoy a brisk ride.

bulletin staff photographer

GRACE, EASE AND SKILL MARK THIS PERFORMANCE

OVER THE HURDLE with no more trouble than the look of fierce determination on this face of the rider, Sylvia Evans. Miss Evans demonstrates what expert horsemanship can accomplish, as she guides her horse over the hurdle at Briercrest Saddle Club.

TIME OUT FOR CHATTER BEFORE THE RIDE

HAYSTACK HAVEN AFTER CANTER THROUGH COUNTRYSIDE

BIT OF RELAXATION is due Barbara Marsden, left and Jean Baree and their horses for they've just spent the major part of the golden autumn afternoon riding through the countryside. Both girls spend as much of their leisure time as possible riding. They both say it's a sport they "just couldn't live without."

Pretty Young Riders Decorate Brick Wall

SUN SHINES BRIGHT on Barbara Park, left and Donna Hamby as they play Humpty Dumpty on the brick wall after a tiring ride. Like most enthusiastic young horsewomen, these girls love their riding habits just as much as the pretty, foamy, feminine forms hanging in the closet. And no reason why they shouldn't... their riding costumes make them as pretty and attractive as any formal gown.
